Toys and Games
with Mark Rayner – 32

You will need:

- 75mm strap hinges (including screws)
- Drill with hole-cutting attachment
- Paintbrushes (including a small artists' brush)
- Tape measure
- Two pieces of 19mm plywood measuring 800mm x 500mm
- Resene Lustacryl tinted to Resene Snap
- Resene testpots of Resene Chaos, Resene Fizz, Resene Kermit, Resene Orang-atan and Resene Splish Splash
- Resene Quick Dry
- Sandpaper
- Screwdriver

Step one

Carefully drill five large holes in one of the pieces of plywood, as shown. Smooth any rough edges with sandpaper.

Step two

Apply one coat of Resene Quick Dry to the pieces of plywood and allow to dry.

Step three

Apply two coats of Resene Snap to the pieces of plywood, allowing two hours for each coat to dry.

Step four

Join the pieces of plywood along the top edge using the hinges, spaced 50mm from each end.

Step five

Paint one balloon with two coats of Resene Chaos and a second balloon with two coats of Resene Orang-atan, allowing two hours for each coat to dry.

Step six

Paint a third balloon with two coats of Resene Fizz, allowing two hours for each coat to dry.

Step seven

Paint a fourth balloon with two coats of Resene Kermit, allowing two hours for each coat to dry.

Step eight

Paint a fifth balloon with two coats of Resene Splish Splash, allowing two hours for each coat to dry.

It's easy to create this colourful target game with a little bit of help from Resene.

To get the look: Mark painted the background wall with Resene Lumbersider tinted to Resene Dutch White.

How to play: Each player must throw a small ball through each hole in the coloured balloon. The first player to get their ball through all the colours wins.
